

Recently, our favorite Californians, The Eagles, challenged the staff of Rolling Stone Magazine to a hot little game of baseball. Proceeds of the match went to charity and (natch) Super-Rock's top West Coaster, Mark Jason, was there to snap the game for posterity.

Batter Up! Why, It's none other than Joe Walsh behind home plate.

PLAYING BASEBALL WITH THE EAGLES

The Eagles diminutive manager, Irv Azoff, sports a tee emblazoned with the question we all have wanted to ask for a while now.

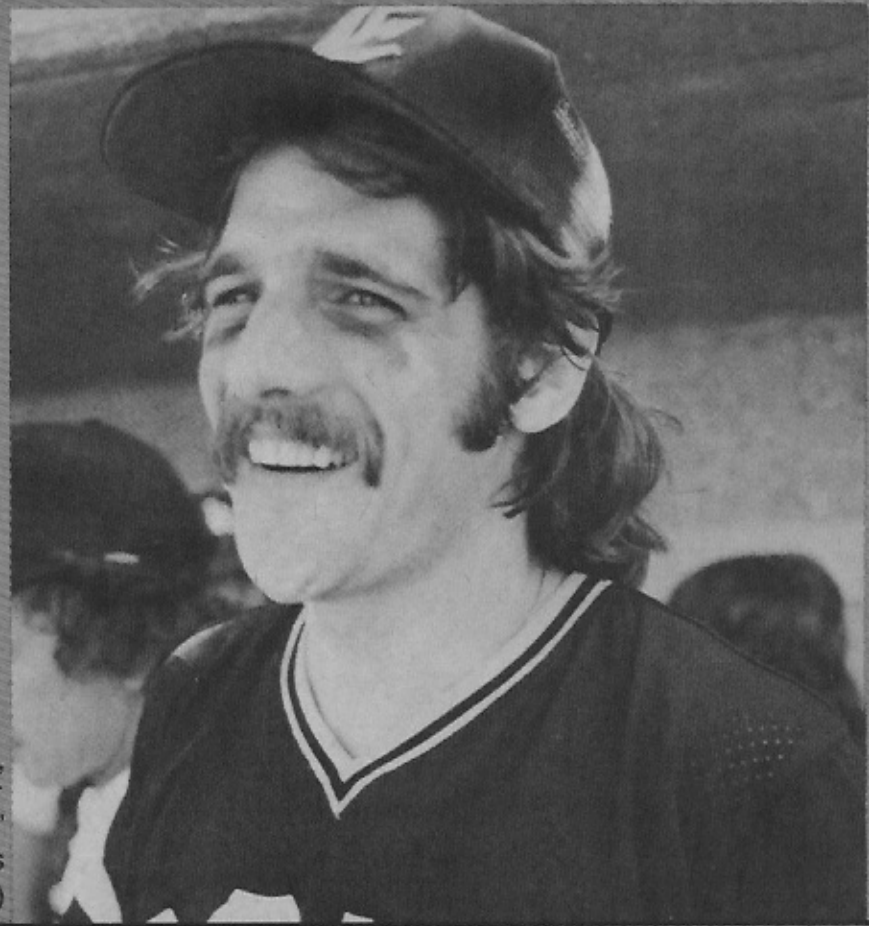

Chevy Chase watches the action with eager eyes!

Is That Joni Mitchell rooting for the home team?? (You bet it is!)

"O.K. guys, this is the plan . . ."

"Reggie Jackson,
Eat Your Heart Out!"
(That Glen Frey is such a fox!)

Mr. Frey obliges the crowd with a few autographs.
